Suggested Window and Door Numbering Standards

When a crisis of any magnitude occurs in public, the rapid response of emergency personnel to the incident scene in a timely manner can be a critical component for savings lives and property.

Many schools have dozens of doors providing entrance and egress to their buildings and even more windows throughout their many classrooms. Because of the sheer number of these access points, directing first responders to where they are needed during an unexpected emergency or natural disaster can be a logistical challenge. To expedite response at these times, it may be necessary to gain access through the door or window closest to the emergency scene and so the establishment of an external door and/or window numbering system can be extremely valuable to emergency responders and will also assist your students and staff in acclimating themselves to door locations in case of an emergency.

FORESIGHT MEETS INNOVATION

Door labeling

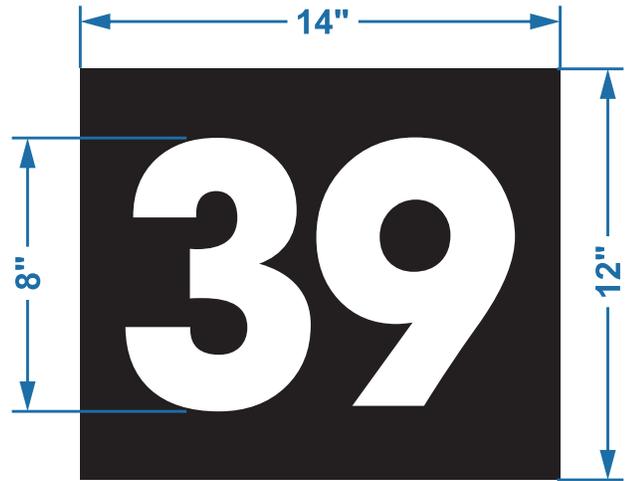

Center for Safe Schools has established a standard system of classroom and entrance labeling and has partnered with an industry leading sign and graphics manufacturer to design and produce window and door decals for your school. Using high quality, industry leading materials, Fastsigns of Mechanicsburg is able to produce a customized product corresponding to your school's labeling needs that utilizes these best practices, ensuring that they are noticeable as intended for first responders.

STANDARDS MEET QUALITY PRODUCTS

All decals are produced using a laminated 5-mil, cast PVC reflective film that combines excellent weather, solvent and corrosion resistance and meets ASTM D 4956 specifications for Type I, Class 1 retroreflective sheeting. Unlike many reflective vinyl films that are damaged easily, the product uses clear, solvent-based, repositionable, permanent low initial tack adhesive which allows for ease of application and removal (with heat) when necessary. So easy in fact, they can easily be applied by your own facilities staff.
